Graduate Success Story

Martin Leathers – Radiography Program
Pima Medical Institute, Albuquerque, New Mexico
Submission date: June 2009

When the company I worked for closed its doors in 2006, I wasn't sure what I was going to do. I was in my late 40's and was suddenly out of work. My son suggested looking into the health care field. My daughter graduated from Pima Medical Institute in the Medical Assistant program and has been very successful. In fact, she's gone on to medical school and will be graduating soon. When I came down to the campus, my advisor, Popie White, steered me toward the Radiography program. I felt that the instruction I received was very good. All the instructors were demanding, but the subject material required it. My externship was very good and I was exposed to many different environments. In fact, a recruiter told me that I was lucky that PMI gave me that experience because a lot of graduates he deals with don't have a lot of experience. The bottom line was being prepared to enter the work force and passing the national registry. When all was said and done, everyone in my class passed the registry with very high scores and, to my knowledge, everybody has a job. Thank you PMI, for giving me a career, not just a job!
